Played Them Both Ways.

The French comedian Periet was extraordinarily thin. A physician recommended him to try some bath in the Pyrenees, so he betook himself to the mineral springs, where he bathed unremittingly, but all in vain; he did not increase in size. "Patience," urged the doctor. "There is nothing like our baths for making people fat." One day while Periet was waiting philosophically in his bath for an embonpoint which never came he heard a conversation in the next room, from which his own was divided by only a thin partition and which was occupied by an enormous woman, fat as the Hottentot Venus. "Doctor," said she, "I am getting tired of this." "Why?" asked the Aesculapius. "I have been here two months." "Well?" "Well, I am as enormous as I was when I came." "A little patience, madame," urged the doctor. "There is nothing like our baths for making people thin." Periet, hearing these words, sprang out of his bath, dressed, rushed home to his hotel, ordered his bill and left for Paris by the next train.—Argonaut.

A Simple Life.

"And what," inquired the visitor, who was "being nice" to little Bobbie, "are you going to do when you grow up?"

"Be a business man," responded Robert, "like father. He took me down to his office last week, and I'm going to work like him and have a good time."

"And what are you going to do in business?" pursued the visitor.

"Going to do just like dad," repeated the youngster—"catch the train every morning and when I get to the office light a big cigar and sit down at my desk and say there's so much work to do it's no use beginning till after lunch, and then go out with another big man and eat and eat till I can't eat any more, and then go back to business and ask everybody else why the work ain't done, and then get so mad because nobody does anything that I'll go home early and be so tired I can't do a thing except read the paper and smoke more big cigars and swear."—Pearson's.

Florists' Jargon.

The florists have a trade jargon of their own. When a man who grows flowers for a living rattles off something like "paper whites, valleys and Romans" the confused layman has to stop to think what the jumble of words means. It is only the trade way of saying paper white narcissus, lily of the valley and Roman hyacinth. Likewise "mum" is their word for chrysanthemum, and time and space are likewise saved by saying "cyp" instead of cypripedium. So Bridesmaid roses are "maids," American Beauties are "beauties," Perle du Jardin becomes "perle" and is pronounced pearl, while Souvenir du President Carnot is reduced to its last word, just as those other illustrious French rose names, General Jacqueminot and Marechal Niel, where shortened to "Jack" and "Niel" in the heyday of their glory.—New York Press.

A Locomotive's Breathing.

The "breathing" of a locomotive—that is to say, the number of puffs given during a journey—depends upon the circumstances of its driving wheels and their speed. No matter what the rate of speed may be, for every one round of the driving wheels a locomotive will give four puffs—two out of each cylinder, the cylinders being double. If the average circumference of the driving wheel is twenty feet and the speed per hour fifty miles, a locomotive will give, going at express speed, 850 puffs per minute, 52,800 puffs per hour and 1,055 puffs per mile.—London Standard.

MARK TWAIN'S CLOTHES.

The Great Humorist Always Had a Relish For Personal Effect.

At the time of our first meeting Mark Twain was wearing a sealskin coat, with the fur out, in the satisfaction of a caprice or the love of strong effect which he was apt to indulge through life. Fields, the publisher, was present.

I do not know what droll comment was in Fields' mind with respect to this garment, but probably he felt that here was an original who was not to be brought to any Bostonian book in the judgment of his vivid qualities. With his crest of dense red hair and the wide sweep of his flaming mustache Clemens was not discordantly clothed in that sealskin coat, which afterward, in spite of his own warmth in it, sent the cold chills through me when I once accompanied it down Broadway, and shared the immense publicity it won him.

Clemens had always a relish for personal effect, which expressed itself in the white suit of complete serge which he wore in his last years and in the Oxford gown which he put on for every possible occasion and said he would like to wear all the time. That was not vanity in him, but a keen feeling for costume which the severity of our modern tailoring forbids men, though it flatters women to every excess in it.—W. D. Howells in Harper's Magazine.

HIS BLACK EYE.

How He Got It and the Worst That Was Yet to Come.

"Gracious! That's a peach of a black eye. Where did you get it?"

"Got it on the left side of my nose. Where did you think I got it—over the ankle bone?"

"Don't get heated. How did it all happen?"

"That's different. It was all a piece of my confounded luck. I was up on the Blue Cliff road looking at a piece of real estate when along came a coatless and bareheaded fellow running for dear life with a lot of panting pursuers stretching in a long line behind him. I joined in the chase. Being fresh, I rapidly overhauled the fugitive. I had nearly collared him when a big ruffian grabbed me and profanely told me to clear out. I spoke rudely to him and kept on running, and he suddenly reached out a fist like a ham and knocked me into a ditch. And what do you suppose it all was?"

"Give it up."

"It was a rehearsal for a moving picture film, and now my portrait will go all over the country and be seen in thousands of theaters as a bruised and battered butter-in who got just what was coming to him!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Cow Decided.

A peasant living in the village of Predeal, near the Hungarian frontier, lost his cow. About two months ago he happened to be standing at the railroad station watching a train load of cattle about to be sent across the frontier. Suddenly he gave a shout. "That's my cow!" he cried, running toward one of the cars.

The trainmen only laughed at him, and he went before the magistrate. This good man listened to the peasant's story patiently. Then he pronounced this judgment: "The cow shall be taken to the public square of Predeal and milked. Then if it goes of its own accord to the plaintiff's stable it shall belong to him."

The order of the court was carried out, and the cow, in spite of its ten months' absence, took without hesitation the lane which led it a few minutes later into the peasant's stable.—Chicago News.

Nonroyal Headgear.

One of the attaches of the American embassy at London tells a story wherein Michael Joseph Barry, the poet, who was appointed a police magistrate in Dublin, was the principal figure. There was brought before him an Irish American charged with suspicious conduct. The officer making the arrest stated, among other things, that the culprit was wearing a "Republican hat."

"Does your honor know what that means?" was the inquiry put to the court by the accused's lawyer.

"It may be," suggested Barry, "that it means a hat without a crown."—Harper's Magazine.

Saving His Feelings.

The Office Boy (to persistent lady artist who calls six times a week)—The editor's still engaged. The Lady Artist—Tell him it doesn't matter. I don't want to marry him. The Office Boy—I 'aven't the 'art to tell 'im that, miss. He's 'ad several disappointments today. Try and look in again next year.—London Sketch.

Optimistic.

"I was pinched for being too optimistic."

"Aw, come off."

"Fact. I thought the stock I was selling would be worth something some day."—Washington Herald.

It Covers the Land.

"We shall never see that great American novel. It can't be written."

"Why not?"

"We have too many dialects."

"Write it in baseball vernacular."—Washington Herald.

In South America

Foreign Correspondent. And who are those two men under the tree? General Paprika. Oh, that's the second battalion of the royal guards.—Chicago News.

A Tribute of Affection.

Something of the sympathetic kindliness of nature of the late Frederick Greenwood came out in a little speech made by J. M. Barrie on the occasion of Mr. Greenwood's seventy-fifth birthday, when the men who had worked under him on the St. James' and the Pall Mall Gazette met to do him honor. In the course of his remarks Mr. Barrie confessed that he had bought his first silk hat "to impress" the veteran editor. Then he added impulsively:

"Oh, Greenwood, it is for your kindness to us boys in our first silk hat that we love you!"

Change of Front.

The Groom. Great heavens, who is this coming up? The Bride. Why, that is Aunt Maria! The Groom. Well, have I got to embrace that old fairy? The Bride. Sh! It was she that sent us the handsome silver service. She's worth thousands. The Groom (kissing her rapturously). My darling aunt!—London Answers.

Practice and Preaching.

"For the love of heaven, Amanda," said the Rev. Dr. Fourthly, calling to his wife in tones of thunder, "come and take this squalling baby out of the room before she drives me crazy. I'm writing a sermon on 'Bearing One Another's Burdens.'"—London Tit-Bits.

The Great Trouble.

"It is every woman's duty to keep young as long as possible," she said.

"Yes," he admitted, "but the great trouble is that so many young women insist on keeping young after it is impossible."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Sonoma, September 3, 1910.

H. H. GRANICE, Editor.

Apropos Labor Day.

With thousands of striking cloak makers in the East and with teamsters and steel workers at war with their employers in the West, the sun which rises upon Labor Day will see the class war as far from settled as ever. Labor may present a stronger front, its ranks may have been swelled by the unionization of new material, but its numbers has not rendered it more effectual either in getting its demands from its employers or getting decisions in our courts. When labor aims to solve economic problems in the proper way we can see it forging ahead, and we believe within its ranks are those who realize that they must not be led by blind passion or class prejudice but must carve out a logical way to reach the ground whereon the employer will have to reckon with them.

The encouragement of efficiency and the effort to restrict undesirable alien labor are good lines on which to work.

All fair citizens want to see labor accorded the full rights and Government investigation of those rights, and the growing sentiment of the people to interest themselves in the masses indicates the cooperation that the working man has and gives promise that all problems affecting his wellfare will be nearer of a solution if he does not become rabid, unreasonable or too radical in his zeal for immediate self-betterment.

Womanly Spirit in Club Work.

There is a true womanly ring in the declaration of club women to interest themselves in the young girl who comes untutored and inexperienced from the country to the city. Under philanthropy the work has been taken up in the Federation and the social problem that it presents will be worked out in a real christian manner. Placards will be put in railway stations giving the addresses of the homes whose doors always stand open to the girl who is without shelter. It is well that club women should interest themselves along such lines for even if they have not the opportunity to do practical work to help their sex it will at least tune their hearts to the true tone which should prevail and further the work of our churches, which are not altogether successful in giving us that true brotherhood of man and sisterhood of women.

With the necessity of certified milk and the school department on a still hunt for adenoids it is little wonder that race suicide has its advocates.

Buffalo Bill was never in it compared to Lionized Teddy.

Despair and Despondency

No one but a woman can tell the story of the suffering, the despair, and the despondency endured by women who carry a daily burden of ill-health and pain because of disorders and derangements of the delicate and important organs that are distinctly feminine. The tortures so bravely endured completely upset the nerves if long continued.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for weakness and disease of the feminine organism.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones and builds up the nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. Honest medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing to urge upon you as "just as good." It is non-secret, non-alcoholic and has a record of forty years of cures. Ask Your Neighbors. They probably know of some of its many cures.

If you want a book that tells all about woman's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to date edition, in paper covers. In handsome cloth-binding, 31 stamps. Address Dr. R.V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y.

Dropped Dead at Boyes Springs

J. Dougherty, former Chief of the San Francisco Fire Department, dropped dead at Boyes Springs last Saturday morning at about 11 o'clock. The cause of death was heart disease. The veteran fireman had been sojourning at the springs for several days and was apparently enjoying the best of health. The remains were shipped to San Francisco for interment.

UNKNOWN MAN FOUND DEAD.

Discovered in Mountains at Base of a High Bluff—Food for Buzzards for Over a Month.

Sunday morning while Floyd Reed and Henry Anselmi, sixteen year-old boys, were hunting in the mountains about two miles north of town, they came unexpectedly upon the remains of a dead man lying at the foot of a bluff about twenty-five feet high. Without making an examination of the remains the boys hurried into town and notified Deputy Sheriff Ryan of their discovery.

The officer, accompanied by the young men, repaired to the spot and an examination revealed the fact that the man had been dead at least a month and that the remains were so badly decomposed that identification of the man was simply impossible. On the cliff overlooking the spot where the remains lay were found a roll of blankets and a hat, but nothing else could be discovered that would serve to identify the dead man. He was evidently a tramp, who, in taking a short cut over the mountains into Napa county, had lost his way in the darkness and fallen over the cliff.

The remains were so far advanced in decomposition that they had to be shoveled into a pair of blankets in order to bring them to town for a hasty burial in the Potter's field of the Valley Cemetery.

Firemen's Test of Lewis' Water System a Success

Last Wednesday evening being the regular drill night of the Sonoma Fire Department a test was made of the L. L. Lewis water system for fire-fighting purposes. The test was entirely satisfactory. The fire hose was connected with a hydrant on Second-street East, which had been set up for the purpose, and the natural force of the water without the aid of the engine projected an immense stream of water for a distance of over 100 feet. About a hundred and fifty people witnessed the test and all joined in saying that the water system for fire-fighting purposes is simply marvelous. If the same force can be maintained after the main has been tapped by water consumers along its entire length, and time alone will demonstrate that fact, there will no doubt be a demand for the installation by the city of fire plugs in addition to those already in use and supplied by the Sonoma City Water Works Company.

MORRISEY WAS UP AGAINST IT

Flees from Home Under Cover of Darkness and Thereby Hangs a Tale of Domestic Woe

J. Morrisey, for several years engaged in the grocery business on Broadway just outside the town limits, disappeared in a most sensational manner last Tuesday morning about 2 o'clock. Just previous to that hour he arose from his bed and dressing himself wrote a will which he deposited in the cash register of his store. He then disappeared in the darkness both hatless and coatless.

When the family arose early Tuesday morning Morrisey was found to be missing and a search for the cause of his non-appearance developed the above facts.

Naturally the drawing of a will by Morrisey and his flight in the dead of night minus coat and hat, at once suggested suicide. A search for the missing man's remains, however, proved fruitless, and as he was seen heading toward Napa at an early hour Tuesday morning the idea of suicide was abandoned and it is now thought he is in the land of the living, free from the cares of domestic woe, which is said to have been the cause of his disappearance.

This theory seems to be probable, as only a few weeks ago Morrisey mortgaged his property for $1500, which is about all it is worth, and this points to the theory that he was then contemplating flight, as there was no particular reason for placing that mortgage upon his store, as he was out of debt and doing a prosperous business. Those who hold to this theory say that Morrisey is not dead but very much alive.

Behind his disappearance, which created great excitement Tuesday, lies a tale of domestic woe that would drive almost any man crazy, and no wonder that the first impulse of the man in taking flight was to head toward Napa.

The will found in the cash register in which Morrisey had also deposited $700, leaves his property to his wife and directs that $200 be given to his mother to pay her expenses back to her home and the balance was to be applied to pay certain debts.

At latest accounts Morrisey's whereabouts are unknown

CANDIDATES AND POLITICAL CARDS

Something About the Various Nominees Who Will be Voted For on November Eighth

Elsewhere in these columns under a separate head will be found the political cards of a number of the candidates for county offices to be filled at the election on November 8th. Most of the names are familiar to our readers, but as there are many new voters on the Great Register this election it may not come amiss to briefly mention them in this issue with a promise that a more extended notice will be accorded them later on.

For County Clerk appears the name of W. W. Felt, Jr., Republican nominee, who is well-known all over the county. Mr. Felt is in every way qualified for the office and this together with the fact that he is one of the most popular candidates on the ticket makes him a sure winner.

For County Assessor Frank E. Dowd, the Democratic nominee, has been unanimously endorsed by his party for another term. Mr. Dowd has made one of the most efficient Assessors Sonoma county ever had and during his incumbency has saved the tax-payers thousands of dollars by a painstaking and systematic method of assessing property in this county. That is why he has easily defeated untried opponents in the past.

C. D. Clawson, the Republican nominee, and who will be Mr. Dowd's opponent, is to be reckoned with this campaign, however. Mr. Clawson is the present City Clerk of Santa Rosa, where he is very popular. He has had much experience as a city official which will be to the good should he be elected our next County Assessor.

For Superintendent of Schools DeWitt Montgomery, the Republican nominee, has held that office one term and his friends and supporters claim that as he has made a most efficient official he is entitled to another term according to the unwritten political law of Sonoma county, and down this way where Mr. Montgomery is better known he is looked upon as a sure winner.

Frank M. Collins, the Republican nominee for Tax Collector, has held the office one term and as he has made good he has been put forward by his friends for another term. Frank will run like a scared wolf in this valley where he has a host of friends.

Glenn E. Murdock, our present popular and efficient County Treasurer, has been nominated by the Republicans for another term. During his incumbency he has conducted his office in a painstaking and methodical manner. He has friends all over the county, irrespective of party, and will poll a big vote.

Fred. G. Nagle, the unanimous choice of the recent Republican county convention for re-election to the office of County Recorder, looks like a sure winner. Mr. Nagle has made a splendid official. He is peculiarly fitted for the position, which he has held for several terms and has more than made good, and that is why he has always been an easy winner in the past.

Fred. C. Steiner of Santa Rosa, Republican nominee for County Auditor, is well thought of in his home town. He is possessed of fine clerical ability which eminently fits him for the position he aspires to. Mr. Steiner, who is a comparative stranger here, made not a few friends among our people on the occasion of his several visits preceding the primary election and ought to secure his full party vote in this section of the county.

Robt. P. Hill of Eldridge, is the Democratic nominee for County Treasurer. Mr. Hill has lived all his life in this valley and is one of our best and most influential citizens. His nomination at the hands of his Democratic friends came as a surprise to him and has caused the admirers and supporters of Mr. Murdock, the Republican nominee, to sit up and take notice.

Herbert W. Slater, the Democratic nominee for Assemblyman of the Fourteenth District, is a popular journalist of Santa Rosa and city editor of the Press Democrat. He is well-known in fraternal circles and a most sociable and genial gentleman and is about the strongest Democratic legislative timber in the district that could be selected to cope with his Republican opponent. Now, on the sly, girls, Mr. Slater is a handsome young bachelor, and should he be elected to the Legislature would be a great catch for the girl with a designing mamma who would like to shine in society circles at the State capital next winter. But Herbert is coy—oh, so coy.

Father Lyons and Major Havens Re-Appointed Directors

Rev. Father William Lyons of of San Francisco and Major C. E. Haven of Santa Rosa, who have held the position of Trustees of the Sonoma State Home at Eldridge for a number of years, have been reappointed for another four-years term by Governor Gillett.

Lea; County Auditor, C. A. Pool; County Recorder, J. C. Smith; Tax Collector, Emile E. Drees; Superintendent of Schools Florence M. Barnes; County Treasurer, Robt. P. Hill; County Surveyor, J. C. Parsons; Coroner and Public Administrator, Dr. Jackson Temple.

The following were selected members of the Democratic County Central Committee from this valley:

Agua Caliente—Thos. H. Baines.
Glen Ellen—James F. Cowen.
San Luis—M. P. Akers.
Sonoma—Sam B. Lewis.

The convention, which was enthusiastic in its support for Theodore A. Bell for Governor and I. G. Zumwalt for Congressman of the Second District and the balance of the State ticket, was well attended by representative citizens from all sections of the county.

Last Obstacle Removed for Sale of Sewer Bonds.

Word has been received by Mayor Cummings from Barroll & Co. of Los Angeles, whose bid of $20,546 for the twenty-thousand-dollar sewer bond issue was accepted by the Board of City Trustees, that the issue has been passed favorably upon by their attorneys.

This removes the last obstacle for the immediate disposal of the bonds, which will now be printed and converted into cash. When this will have been accomplished construction work on the sewer will be commenced and pushed through to speedy completion.

Eighteen-Year-Old Boy Commits Suicide

The remains of Picia Mattero, a young man who worked for a short time last spring for the Sonoma Brewing Company, were found in a field on the Turner ranch near Petaluma last Sunday by George Rodehaver, who was out hunting at the time. The unfortunate boy, he was barely eighteen years of age, had shot himself in the head and breast eight or ten days before his remains were found. Lying alongside the body was a pistol with all the chambers empty and also a knife. It was a clear case of suicide. A note book was found on the deceased and in the pages was a note written in Italian. The note read: "Dear Girl: Gone to the other world."

The Petaluma Courier says:

"The deceased came here from Sonoma and had worked in Petaluma. He is supposed to have an uncle residing in Sonoma and Coroner Blackburn is endeavoring to locate him. At this writing all efforts to find the relative have failed.

"Mattero was a native of Italy and and about eighteen years of age. He had often threatened suicide. He had been ill for some time and said if he did not get better he would end it all. The deceased was well liked by the Italians who knew him.

Hay Market

Somers & Co's statement of the condition of the hay market for the week ending August 30th says:

"Receipts of hay for the past week have fallen off a trifle, 6810 ton arriving in comparison with 7650 during the week previous. The amount of hay, however, has been a great burden on the market and the facilities of all dealers here have been taxed to their utmost capacity in order to handle this great bulk of hay. Naturally enough prices are very weak, and with the amount of hay which yet must be marketed before the rains it is not at all encouraging to make purchases in the country. Consignments are heavy and many consignees are obliged to use their best efforts to arrange the removal of hay from the cars within the proper time, and therefore the matter of price is of but little consideration.

"The greater percentage of the hay which is arriving is of the poorer qualities. The little good hay moves off fairly well, but the prices are not at all satisfactory.

"Alfalfa is very firm and heavy shipments continue to be made northward. At one time it looked as though the matter of securing transportation north would be a difficult problem, although this has now been solved by the sailing vessels and the difficulty seems to be to get the alfalfa to market. The larger alfalfa districts are practically sold out and we look for a further advance later on.

Present prices range from $12.50 for choice wheat hay to $7.00 to $13.00 for alfalfa hay.

THE STEEPLE JACK.

He Must Conquer Many Difficulties In His Dangerous Work.

The successful steeple jack must possess determination, perseverance and ingenuity. He must solve many a practical problem in hoisting great bodies aloft. He must know how to fasten a hook over the summit of a skyscraping chimney. He must have the nerve to paint a steeple that sways like a pendulum at the slender top. He must be able to tear down, build up, gild, paint, place electric wires and do many another task that would be difficult enough on the solid earth.

There are many ways of getting up on a steeple, and when all others fail the man will tie a rope around it and then, with a coil on his back, walk round and round it until the entire steeple is covered with rope, and in such case he has probably been round it fully 300 times.

But a steeple is not the most difficult height to climb. Straight, tall chimneys are the hardest of all. There a man has to work with might and main to lift himself inch by inch from the ground to the top. Sometimes the top is 300 feet high. When it is reached a hook is placed over the edge, a pulley is made fast, the swinging chair is hauled up and work begins.

When the chair is near the top it is easier to work, because the ropes are short, but when they lengthen as the ground is approached there is a tendency to swing, and the wind gives impetus.

The steeple jack's safety depends upon the hook, and until he has raised himself almost to the top it is impossible for him to see whether or not the hook has been properly adjusted. More than once a steeple climber has seen when within ten feet of the top that corrosion of the iron and the collection of soot have so thickened the wall that the hook is merely balancing on the top, so that the slightest pull in the wrong direction would drag it off. Again, the bricks are often loose at the top, and the hook is likely to tear them away.

One of the natural difficulties to conquer is the swaying of all high steeples and chimneys. In a gale a steeple point will sway a foot and a half. Usually it sways from seven to nine inches. Painting it means reaching for a spot on the right side, and finding it on the left, and, when making a dive for it on the left, to see it sway back to the right. Yet in spite of the constant danger a born steeple jack exults in his work and is at home, like the ironworker on the skyscraper, only when high above the world. He can stand triumphantly at any height, if he can have two and one-half square inches to bear his weight.—Harper's Weekly.

MERCIFUL CAESAR.

A Story of the Great Roman and a Band of Pirates.

Caesar traveled with the retinue of a man of rank, and on his way to Rhodes he fell in with an adventure which may be something more than legend. When he was crossing the Aegean, his vessel is said to have been taken by pirates. They carried him to Pharmacusa, an island off the Carian coast, which was then in their possession, and there he was detained for six weeks with three of his attendants, while the rest of his servants were sent to the nearest Roman station to raise his ransom.

The pirates treated him with politeness. He joined in their sports, played games with them, looked into their habits and amused himself with them as well as he could, frankly telling them at the same time that they would be hanged.

The ransom, a very large one, about £10,000, was brought and paid, Caesar was set upon the mainland, near Miletus, where, without a moment's delay, he collected some armed vessels, returned to the island, seized the whole crew while they were dividing their plunder and took them away to Pergamus, the seat of government in the Asiatic province, where they were convicted and crucified. Clemency was not a Roman characteristic. It was therefore noted with some surprise that Caesar interceded to mitigate the severity of the punishment. The poor wretches were strangled before they were stretched on the crosses and were spared the prolongation of their torture.—James Anthony Froude.

Making It Plain.

"Popper," said little Willie Billups, "what does the paper mean when it says that when it comes to getting next to the people, Colonel Blinks has all the other candidates lashed to the mast?"

"That is the slang way of saying, my son," returned Billups, "that for keeping his eye peeled old man Blinks has his opponents skinned a mile.

"There are people in this world for whom the English language is not good enough when they come to the expression of what few ideas they have in their mental garages."—Harper's Weekly.

Highly Efficacious.

"George is not naturally a hasty man, and as his position requires great patience and capacity for waiting, he took a regular training course in both."

"How did he do it?"

"He always went with his wife shopping to match things."—Baltimore American.

We are sure to get the better of fortune if we do but grapple with her.—Seneca.

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a costitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
